Small boys often ask embarrassing questions. A preacher was addressing the Sunday School, and explaining the significance of white. "Why," he asked, "does a bride desire to be clothed in white at her marriage?" As no one answered, he went on. "Because white stands for joy, and the wedding day is the most joyous occasion in a woman's life."

Immediately a little fellow piped up: "Please, sir, why do the men wear black?"—Mail and Empire.

THE CASE FOR THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(By George Gordin, London, Eng.)

The following article was written for the University of Alberta Press Bulletin by George Gordin, a well known journalist and barrister, London, England, who is London correspondent for a number of leading Canadian papers.

The destiny of every man, woman and child, and of the human race, generations as yet unborn, will be determined by the success or failure of the League of Nations. Out of the travail of the Great War, out of the world's agony, has come a great ideal. It is not a new ideal; it was advocated two thousand years ago; but it is now no longer something to dream upon as a thing desirable but beyond the reach of human aspiration. It has become a necessity, without which the race of man must surely perish from the face of this planet.

It needed the bloodstain in history to bring this truth home to the minds of men. It needed that deepened instinct of self-preservation, in whose name countless wars have been waged in the past, to warn us that the League of Nations is the final sanction, force will surely wipe out our race.

It is out of a world weakened by war and cursed by cynicism that the Great Hope was lighted in the hearts of those who had suffered most, the women who bore the men and boys who died, look heart of sacrifice, of self-sacrifice.

Not been in vain. Today the world stands at the cross roads, and it is for each and every one of us to turn according to the dictates of heart and brain; a portentous decision.

RIGHT OR MIGHT?
At the outset the League is faced with manifold difficulties.

The world, heretofore, has been unable to adjust itself to a new concept of international relations based on what might be termed, the wider patriotism. Differing among themselves in religion, language and custom, and a thousand other matters, the nations of the League will, without doubt, discover that the cooperation of peace is no easy matter.

For the League is not without difficulties. The limitations are those of character, not of circumstances, as has been made abundantly apparent at Washington where in the most unexpected quarter demands have been made for unjustifiable armaments. Militarism is not a passion peculiar to any one nation; the root of it is in them all. Not the least menace the League has to face is an outbreak within its own constitution. But these difficulties, when the calamity of failure is contemplated, are seen in their true proportions.

However insuperable they appear they have to be overcome. There have always been difficulties. There are there to be overcome; given the essential good will, they will yield to time and hard work.

Those who oppose the League do so on several grounds; there are those who seek to kill it with ridicule, the indifferent and those who desire a chimera. It will be necessary to ignore the first, to ignore the second, to convert the last.

THREE QUESTIONS
Many problems face the League, problems more gigantic than have ever in the past faced the nations. But the League has the resources of the civilized world at its disposal; it has the pick of the best brains; it has the support of all thoughtful men who desire to see the end of war.

How does the League work? What has it accomplished in the short period that has passed since its inception?

How will it enforce its decrees in the face of a nation in arms? In other words, What are its functions?

HOW THE LEAGUE WORKS
The League of Nations is a Society of Nations acting together for the promotion of international co-operation, peace and security. It is pledged not to resort to war; to maintain justice and scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations; to deal only in the open; and to establish understandings of international law as the actual rule between governments.

The League is governed by the Covenant. The executive consists of representatives of the principal allied and associated powers, together with representatives of four other nations of the League; and a Secretary.

THE COVENANT
The range of subjects covered by the Articles of the Covenant of the League is wide. It aims at the reduction of national armaments to its lowest point. It proposes to forbid the manufacture of war material for private profit. It appoints a permanent Military Commission to advise where military action becomes necessary. It declares that any war or threat of war is a matter for the League. It imposes upon its members the obligation of referring all international disputes to arbitration, and in the case of those nations without the League, invites them to submit themselves in the same way. It provides for the isolation of such states by severance of all trade, financial and personal intercourse, in the event of a declaration of war. In other words, any State declaring war upon one member of the League is, ipso facto, at war with the whole League.

It sets up a permanent Court of International Justice, such Court being competent to hear and determine any disputes of international character to which the parties thereto submit to it. It provides for the restriction of all treaties, thus doing away with the evil and war-breeding secret obligations and pacta of men. It pledges itself to protect those small peoples who have been liberated by the war from their oppressors, yet who are still too weak to fend for themselves.

It extends its benevolent activity to the realm of social well-being and undertakes to maintain a fair and humane condition of labor for men, women and children; to supervise the execution of agreements with regard to the treatment of prisoners of war; to take over the trade in arms and war material. It undertakes, further, to maintain intercourse, communication and transit and equitable treatment for commerce.

To the Covenant there are forty-eight signatories, representing as many powers as three-quarters of the world's total population.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE?
Here, very briefly, are set forth a few of the things so far accomplished

by the League of Nations:
It has stopped a war between Sweden and Finland.
It has arrested hostilities between Poland and Lithuania.
It has registered and published sixty-nine treaties.
It has set up the Court of International Justice.
It has set up an International Health Office.
It has repatriated 200,000 prisoners of war, who, otherwise, would have perished last winter.
It has taken the first steps towards standardizing labor throughout the world.

It has held a successful Financial Conference in Brussels.
It has created a Permanent Armaments Commission.

It has organized a campaign against typhus in Eastern Europe.
It has established a Permanent International Labor Organization and held a successful conference.

From this brief summary it will be seen that the League is a fact, and no longer a theory.

WHAT ARE THE SANCTIONS?
How can the League enforce its will? What are the sanctions?

At the present time, with the memory of the horror of war fresh in the minds of men, the question of sanctions is not so urgent as it may be to a new generation untortured by that fierce ordeal. But since it is possible that national ambition may again assert itself and become a menace to the peace of the world, and there are indications that this is more likely to happen in our own day than would have been thought possible six months ago—the question of sanctions is a very important one.

Many critics of the League regard it as impotent with regard to a large military machine at its disposal. That is to say, unless its ultimate appeal be to force, an international army such as has been suggested, has many difficulties; there is the question of language, equipment, training and organization, all subjects likely to be fruitful of contention. Perhaps such an army is not necessary at all.

The Covenant of the League itself provides an effective sanction. By Articles XVI and XVII, any State that resorts to war in disregard of the Covenant, refusing arbitration, is, ipso facto, at war with the other parties to the League.

THE ECONOMIC WEAPON
The drastic effects of virtual excommunication that is provided for, would be by effect, an appeal to force; force of a passive kind, true; but none the less terrible in its consequences than actual war in the field.

The Great War has demonstrated the fact that no State can stand alone in war. A blockade by the League would be a measure far more terrible in its effectiveness than any blockade of Central Europe. And the writer, just returned from a journey through Germany and Austria, saw abundant evidence, in the form of rickety and tubercular children, of what that blockade meant to the Central Powers.

A blockade by the League would result in a bloodless war against the weak; for the first to suffer would be the women and children and the only the latter would survive such privation. No State would lightly expose its citizens to such suffering defeat as would be inevitable end of such warfare.

Here, then, is the sanction by which, under its present Constitution, the League of Nations would seek to enforce obedience in the interests of peace.

The creation of an international police, a sort of Foreign Legion, would have few of the dangers and difficulties of an international army; it would be too small to become the centre of intrigue. Moreover, the experiment is not new; there was Garibaldi's Ten Thousand; there is the Foreign Legion.

But the great weapon, the most effective, most terrible instrument in the hands of the nations of the League, is the economic weapon.

THE HOPE OF THE WORLD
The League of Nations is an imperfect instrument; it has obvious limitations; it faces difficulties insurmountable. It is a fragile machine for so stupendous a task as the abolition of war from the face of the earth. It can only succeed if it has behind it the moral support of the people of the world; the people who suffer from war, who have nothing to gain by it.

Right or might? World peace or downfall? A thousand new horrors of scientific frightfulness by land, sea and air to inevitable annihilation; or a world at peace under the reign of right?

That is the choice; for it the League of Nations falls what is our hope? Yet, for its success a change of heart is necessary that will make possible the Brotherhood of Man, the Federation of the World.

GREENFIELD ASKS MORE TEAM WORK AMONG PROVINCES

People Themselves Should Solve World's Problems, Says Alberta Premier.

Winnipeg, May 9.—An appeal for greater co-operation and team work among provinces as well as individuals, was made here today by Premier Herbert Greenfield of Alberta, in an address before the Canadian Club.

The trouble with provinces in the past has been the man at the top of the tree has always attempted to put out a solution of the problems of the world rather than let the people do it themselves, Premier Greenfield declared.

"The old party system is rapidly breaking down. It is evident everywhere and more especially in Ottawa. It has lost its appeal to the people because it was breaking down and undermining the backbone of the country," he said.

In declaring the awakening of the public mind was responsible for the present unrest, Premier Greenfield said it is nothing to be afraid of, and added that it was the most hopeful sign Canada had seen for the past 50 years.

The Alberta premier said he favored re-establishment of the Canada wheat board and lower freight rates. He pointed out that while the value of Alberta's grain crop last year was $82,000,000, more than $171,000,000 would have been obtained for the same crop in Quebec, because freight rates were the cause of the difference, he said.

DISTRESS AMONG STARVING CHILDREN IS INCREASING

Thousands of lives of famishing children have been jeopardized through the famine reports that the famine condition in Russia were over.

The famine is still on and distress is undoubtedly increasing.

Sir Benjamin Robertson, international authority on famine, and chairman of the All-British Relief Organizations, has issued a special statement to the Canadian people through the Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund.

The latter organization requested to be advised concerning the report that conditions had been exaggerated and the following reply was received from Lord Weardale, Chairman of the British Save the Children Fund.

"I have consulted Sir Benjamin Robertson, Chairman of the All-British Appeal of which we are part, and under whose directions we are working, regarding your cable on famine conditions. Sir Benjamin Robertson says:

"The present programme of the American Relief Administration is to distribute 317,000 rations to adults in the Saratov area where the British Save the Children Fund is also administering relief. The total population of the Saratov district is 2,700,000 and the famine relief programme is preparing to feed up to 300,000 children in kitchens, and a further 250,000 adults in addition to the 317,000 rations. But these numbers by no means represent the full extent of the famine. The Russian Government, recently notified, stated that an effort should be made to relieve at least fifty per cent of the population—that is a total of, say, 1,300,000 against 87,000 now to be fed by the Save the Children Fund, and the A.R.A. I would request, therefore, that every effort be made to help the Save the Children Fund to increase the number to be fed as distress is undoubtedly increasing."

Sir Benjamin Robertson, recently returned from an inspection of the famine area undertaken with the approval of the British government, and in transmitting his message from Sir Benjamin, the hope is expressed by Lord Weardale that the Canadian public will take all possible measures to help the Save the Children Fund to carry out its programme, and, if possible, to increase it.

LORD LISTER & Zam-Buk

Lord Lister's discovery of antiseptic surgery has saved the world a lot of lives, but it has been left to Zam-Buk to bring into millions of homes the full benefits of antiseptic healing.

Zam-Buk is the greatest antiseptic healer the world has ever known. Being of a natural vegetable origin Zam-Buk has distinct and positive advantages over old-style mineral ointments.

Zam-Buk is a compact and highly-refined balm with an antiseptic power many times greater than that of an ordinary salve or ointment. Zam-Buk kills and cures all germs, and instantly relieves pain and inflammation. It first cleanses a sore place and then grows over it a new healthy skin.

As a first-aid dressing for injuries, and for soothing such troubles as eczema, ulcers, ringworm, abscesses, poisoned wounds and piles, Zam-Buk is used the world over. It has the high endorsement of Dr. Andrew Wilson and other well-known doctors, surgeons and nurses.

THINK IT ALL OVER-IT IS TIME FOR SANE THINKING.

There is such a thing as a "state of mind," aggravating and exaggerating real troubles to a point where mental depression is a real hindrance to recuperation, says the Breeder's Gazette. The Gazette warns farmers, in particular, against indulgence in what is sometimes called self-pity. It is a bad disease. Do not give way to it if you can possibly avoid it. Farmers generally have no means of knowing the depressed condition of our manufacturing industries. They have no way of knowing how hard business men in great centres of population have been hit. The farmer who fancies that he has got the whole cake, and both barrels at that, is therefore laboring under a delusion. If farmers knew the load that thousands of business men and hundreds of commercial banks are carrying today, it might help them to realize that the farmer is not the only sufferer. You often hear farmers say, "I don't want my boys to have anything to do with farming. They can fit themselves for any other business they like." And so we see farmers' sons in the universities being educated to be engineers and everything but farmers. How many engineers are making a living today? How many are out of jobs? Please, we should say. Their business is in no better shape just now than is the farmer's, but just because farming is temporarily in distress a lot of folk talk about its never coming back; talk as if any other line of work is sure to give better returns for the future. Is this reasonable? Is it logical? Is it sane? Or is it just the reaction of minds depressed by recent losses? It is a time for sane thinking, not for giving way to impulse. A little steadiness, a lot of patience, and now and then a smile, will help.

Last year the American people spent $22,700,000,000 for luxuries. Candy took a cool billion. Cigarettes took $300,000,000, perfume and cosmetics $750,000,000, and so on down through the list. There always seems to be plenty of money for selfish purposes.

Statistics recently compiled in the United States show that the A.P. steady drift from steam to electricity as a mode for propelling railroad trains. Already the very considerable mileage in the United States has been electrified, and the probabilities are that even more rapid progress will be made in the near future.

"Newspapers have increased their circulation but not their influence. The reason is that newspapers are once 'voices,' now they are properties," declared Henry Ford in a recent statement. Continuing, he said, "The press does not command the awe it once did; instead of being the unchallenged monarch of opinion it has become the subject of opinion."

POULTRY ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Poultry Association, after hearing Dr. George's report on the A.P. executive meeting at Calgary held the dates of their annual winter show at Dec. 20-21. Mr. Taylor was first in the competition in the heavy classes, with a Silver Wyandotte hen, and Dr. George first in the light classes with a Black Minorca hen. Judges Byers and Burnett made the awards. The competition made it fair to make the meetings more useful to the members.

feeding, it is time to get down to business. There are big problems before the administration, and although the Cabinet should dispose of special committees, and the first half of the session has been but little of importance accomplished, private members are anxious to expedite constructive work. Standing committees are well attended, and problems of agriculture, fisheries, railways and soldier re-establishment are grappled with conscientiously. So far, the west has virtually monopolized the agricultural committee's attention with the Wheat Board difficulty.

Militia camps will be seriously affected, if held at all, this year, as a result of reduction in the estimates following a show-of-force by Quebec members in the House. Unopposed, or by any member on his own side, Hon. G. G. Graham was in the usual position of a Minister upholding his estimates with the aid of the Conservative opposition only. The result was that he held them over, and in the subsequent party caucus met the Quebec insurgents with a compromise. Last year's estimate for annual training amounted to $2,000,000. This year the King's net brought in an estimate of $1,400,000, which, it is understood, has been cut to $1,000,000. The corps training, according to custom, in the early months of the year, have already used their proportionate share of the money. It is not difficult to understand the desire of a highly paid officer who describes the vote as "No good at all." Brig-Gen. J. A. Clark, Conservative member for Brandon, made a special appeal in the House against any such compromise, quoted experts to the effect that omission of training for a year would result in disorganization of the whole militia force. Canada's military strength, in any way, on defence, is much less than that of other British Dominions, per capita, or that of any civilized country in the world.

Before Hon. Mr. Graham withdrew his estimate, however, he was faced with an amendment to cut them by $1,100,000, almost wiping out the grant. The amendment was proposed by no less a person than G. G. Power (Liberal, Quebec South). Among those supporting it were: Parnell Rinfret (St. James) editor of Le Canada, in which paper Sir Lomer Gouin and other Quebec statesmen are interested. In view of the personnel of other Quebec members attacking the militia estimates, and the silence of the ministers, it may be taken that some of the latter, at least, are sympathetic. In future the government will probably take the precaution to air controversial matters in caucus beforehand.

Major G. G. Power, who moved the reduction of the militia training vote, is brother of a recent appointee to the Quebec Harbour Commission. Displacement of the former members of that body caused considerable discussion in the House when a vote of $1,500,000 to be "advanced" to the commission for training facilities was put through. Here again the government found itself on the defensive, and not the unusually candid admission of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine, that the administration had been governed by the good old patronage principle. Resignations of Sir and Mr. Gravel, members of the Board, were asked when the new government assumed office. Their efficiency was unquestioned, and the two first named had rendered distinguished service in the House. Mr. Gravel, by the way, was enquired by Sir Hon. Arthur Meighen, Mr. Lapointe confessed that he had been the owner of the "Quebec Chronicle," was persona non grata to the new administration, and against the government. He was, however, a gentleman whose newspaper criticized the government "every morning" and was a "valuable asset" to the fact, investigations show no such series of attacks or severe criticism against the government. It is interesting to read some correspondence on the subject which placed the government in a very unpleasant light, and quoted one close friend of Sir David as writing: "I do not consider it too much to say that what the House failed to do the Liberals succeeded in accomplishing—killing him."

Not even the testimony of the Liberal press is lacking in regard to the powers of Sir Hon. Arthur Meighen as debater and parliamentarian. On several most important issues, this session he has been in the position virtually of leader of the House, not alone the Conservative Opposition. Aside from this interesting situation, however, he has quite evidently risen high in the esteem of the Progressives, many of whom have evidently pictured him as a specialist in constitutional criticism. As the session has advanced, they have found in him a wonderful grasp of public questions, and an ability, through experience, study and mental activity, to see further ahead than most men. No member of the House is listened to more attentively by the waverers, in particular, when he rises to speak, than the leader of the Official Opposition, and it is an open secret that his wide knowledge of certain involved matters has been sought by and freely given to members not within the circle of the Conservative party.

HOUSE WHIRLED INTO SPACE

Family of Five Pass Safely Through Terrifying Experience in Storm.

Winnipeg, May 12.—To have their house suddenly smitten by a terrific wind, and to see it whirling into space, to be whisked around and around like chips in a millstone, and then to have the house clear into the air from over their unconscious bodies, was the terrifying experience of a Piro, school teacher of Landerville, Manitoba; Ursula, his wife, aged 11, and Paula, aged 3, his daughters; and A. Piro, his brother, in the cyclone of Wednesday.

The five sufferers arrived at the Canadian Pacific station from Landerville this morning, the men suffering from innumerable bruises, the woman suffering from several internal injuries; Ross, with a fractured collar bone, and Fidelis, with internal injuries.

The family is literally penniless, and is in exactly the same position as regards this world's goods as though it had been shipwrecked and cast away on a desert island. Everything, even the little money saved, had been blown far and wide, and just how far nobody knows. A bucket was found two miles away, a moment or two before the house with which to start a decent kitchen fire.

"We were sitting at lunch on Wednesday," said one of the men. "We could see the dark cloud, but could not see the approach of the cyclone by reason of a bluff in front of the house. All at once we were hit by the hail and the wind and rain. A moment or two the house stood firm, then it began to twist around and to fall to pieces, then the roof seemed to lift up, and that's about all we know." The school house soon caught fire and was burned.

HUNTING DINOSAURS

The Royal Ontario Museum of Paleontology is making preparations to start a party down the river from Red Deer about May 24 for the purpose of collecting Dinosaur bones. The party will consist of Mr. J. H. Hatcher, who has been working along the Belly River in recent years and propose to take the Red Deer now.

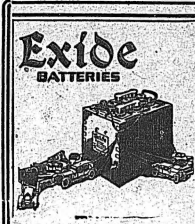

Hatch and Miller, contractors, are constructing a scow for the use of the party. It is 25 feet long, 10 feet wide, with a depth of two feet over all. Constructed of two-inch plank, tongued with iron, it should be able to withstand any rapids to which it will be subjected. Unless there is some activity soon, these prehistoric monsters will be all removed from their native province. Red Deer should have one of them at least.

In an interesting address, Brother Powers sketched the growth of the Order from seven members in 1884, to 28,700 at the end of 1920.

The benefactions of the Order are not confined to its annual expenditures for relief purposes averaging upwards of two million dollars. The Order is credited with eleven "Homes" located in nine grand divisions. Each Home is maintained exclusively by the membership in the domain wherein it is established.

The Order also has an insurance department controlled by the Supreme Lodge, and operated apart from the regular grand and subordinate Lodges by a Board of Control, which is elected by the Supreme Lodge. The insurance department has not been operating in Alberta for some time, and Brother Powers, who is superintendent for Alberta, is visiting the subordinate Lodges in the interests of this branch of the Order.

"Can"

ADVERTISING is the public expression of a master's will and wish—his word of power.

We want to say this to the merchants of this community:

You CAN make the public of this community buy more goods from you.

You CAN teach the public new customs, new tastes, new habits. You CAN make the public do what it is not in the habit of doing. Powerful and persistent advertising has revolutionized modern life. It sends people travelling. It has made them photographers. It has made the motor-car a necessity. It makes women change the fashion of their apparel twice or three a year. It selects the very food we eat.

A NOTE TO THE PUBLIC

Does not the publicly expressed will and wish of the merchants of this community influence you in your shopping? Do you not go where you are guided? Are you not very attentive and responsive to the advertisements which appear each week in the columns of "The Red Deer News."

ANNUAL MEETING OF CURLING CLUB

Successful Season Formally Closed, and Officers Elected for Coming Year; Agreement With Rink Co. Discussed.

About 50 members of the Red Deer Curling Club sat down to a banquet in the Alexandra Hall on Monday evening. The catering by the W. A. of St. Luke's Church was all that could be desired.

Rev. W. G. Brown, President of the Club, occupied the chair and introduced the business of the evening. Mr. Brown expressed his pleasure at seeing so many in attendance, and his appreciation of the loyal cooperation of the members of the Club during the past season.

The secretary's report showed 79 members fully paid up and five others with Bousquet membership only. The main items of expenditure for the year were: Caravanning, $250.00; rent, $150.00; high, $150.00; water, $60.00; playing cups, $48.75. A total of $112.50 was paid out during the season.

The election of officers resulted as follows: High, Pres.—Rev. W. G. Brown. President—J. T. Berry. Secretary—J. Skene. Executive—J. R. McCulloch, H. Wilson, N. M. Burnett, H. McLevin, Oba Shoen.

The executive was empowered to fill any vacancies that might occur to the end of the next curling season.

The Curling Rink Co. gave notice that the rink required for the next season would be $650.00, which some of the members were carrying a burden, and other carrying the ability of the Club. The amount, however, is barely enough to pay the insurance, and other carrying charges of the Rink Co. without any provision for dividends.

The item of $250.00 for taxes this year came in for some discussion, and it was suggested that the Rink Co. approach the rink with a view to getting some relief. It was felt that the game of curling was carrying a burden, and other carrying the ability of the Club. The amount, however, is barely enough to pay the insurance, and other carrying charges of the Rink Co. without any provision for dividends.

The whole matter of the rent was finally referred to the rink executive.

The report of the delegates to the annual meeting of the C. P. R. Central Alberta Curling Association was received. Nothing definite can be done in this matter until fall.

The cups were during the last season were presented to the winning teams as follows: Stone Cup (polish)—J. G. Fulton. Glen Cup (diamond)—J. G. Fulton. Brumpton Cup—J. G. Fulton.

Mr. Cup—H. Clarke. The paraphernalia comprised double header boilers, tubes, coils, kegs, bottles, barrels, strainers, etc. The duplicate was on the river bank hidden under a bunch of spruces and by a ravine. It was located 2 1/2 miles from Leavenworth place, on a school section.

This is the 21st that the A.P. Police to the amount of contraband that the policemen may have manufactured and disposed of.

In dealing with such cases I cannot occur with such ease as a fine line investigation of liquor infringement cases will show that each individual ing the lives of their fellow citizens whom it is to be regretted are without protection in their submission to what amounts to wholesale brigandage."

BIG MOONSHINE STILL

Seized by A.P. Police Near Red Deer

One of the biggest stills ever discovered in this part of the province was unearthed last Monday night by members of the local Division of the A. P. Police in a dug-out on a couple runways into the Red Deer river about 25 miles northeast of the city, when Clyde Lanway and Wm. Lawton were caught redhanded in the act of moonshining and taken into custody by the A.P. Police.

These parties have been under suspicion by the police since last November when they were caught on several occasions, but without the Police being able to discover any liquor, as it would now appear care being taken to never have any stored on the premises.

Both the accused appeared before Magistrate Lawrence, charged with infractions of the Inland Revenue Act, and were remanded for sentence until Thursday.

About 150 gallons of mash was spilled by the Police, and the whole paraphernalia confiscated.

The paraphernalia comprised double header boilers, tubes, coils, kegs, bottles, barrels, strainers, etc. The duplicate was on the river bank hidden under a bunch of spruces and by a ravine. It was located 2 1/2 miles from Leavenworth place, on a school section.

Unveiling A War Memorial

On Friday, April 28, His Excellency Lord Byng, Governor-General of Canada, unveiled the fine bronze memorial which had been erected in the concourse of the Windsor Street C. P. R. Station at Montreal as a memorial to eleven hundred C. P. R. employees who gave their lives in the Great War. The above photograph shows His Excellency addressing the large crowd that had assembled to witness the unveiling, and at his right stands Mr. E. W. Bentley, President of the C. P. R. The guard of honor was composed of C. P. R. employees who were also war veterans. An exact copy of this statue was at the same time unveiled at Winnipeg by the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and at Vancouver by the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. On the same day also 25 bronze tablets were unveiled at different points along the C. P. R. system as well as at the company's European, American and Asiatic offices.

The base of the statue bore the following inscription: "To commemorate those in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company who at the call of King and Country left all that was dear to them, endured hardship, faced danger and finally passed out of sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. Let those who come after see to it that their names be not forgotten."

Enlistments of C. P. R. employees totalled 11,340 men, of which 1,115 were killed or died of wounds, and 2,165 were wounded. A total of 7,573 were re-employed by the company on their return to Canada, following out the C. P. R. policy of re-instating every man who left, as good a job as that which he had when he went away, and a total of 13,112 other returned soldiers have also been taken on the company's service. War decorations and medals won by C. P. R. employees totalled 870 and include the following: Victoria Cross, 2; Order of the British Empire, 6; Distinguished Service Order, 17; Distinguished Service Cross, 3; Military Cross, 54; Distinguished Conduct Medal, 47; Military Medal, 180.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY TOWERS

Esteemed Resident of Willowdale Passes to His Rest

Mr. Henry Towers passed away at the Hospital at 6:45 Thursday evening with his sons around him.

Mr. Towers had been preparing to walk two miles up to his oldest son's on Monday morning shortly after 9 o'clock in order to come to Mr. Day's funeral. He had apparently gone out to feed the chickens when he was seized with a stroke of paralysis and fell to the ground. When Mr. Fred Towers returned to the house at eleven his father was able to account him of the seizure, but sank into unconsciousness not long afterwards, in which state he remained until his death.

Mr. Towers was born in Staffordshire, England, in 1845, and farmed for years in the old land. Desiring to give his boys a better chance, he came on a prospecting tour to Western Canada in 1887. He spent a year in British Columbia, and then located west of Morley, Alberta, bringing out his family. In 1894 he came to the Red Deer district and homesteaded in Willowdale on N.W. 20-27-26, W. 4th, afterwards getting S.W. 18. The Gunning, Hosken, Ward, Wrights, Evans, and others came in about the same time.

Mr. Towers was one of the first residents of the district and had the great pleasure of having his sons settle round him, his youngest son, Fred, keeping house with him after the death of Mr. Towers in 1916 at the age of 72. The family are the three sons—Thomas, William and Fred.

Mr. Towers was a man of bright, cheery disposition, ever ready to stand by his convictions, a helpful citizen and one most highly esteemed in the community. He was staunch Liberal and had been an active Liberal leader in his district for over twenty years. He was an attached member of the Church of England.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from his late residence, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Willowdale, followed by a large number of people of the district who desired to show their sympathy and respect for one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of the district. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. Shandcock, Thos. Gunning, J. W. Hamilton, A. R. Gody, W. W. Ray and P. McIntosh. The service was conducted by the Rev. G. McConas of Red Deer.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER

Ottawa, May 5th, 1922.

Parliament has been in session two months, permitting of a fair test of the group system and of the sincerity and progressiveness of the new administration. The last election wrought many changes. A Liberal Cabinet succeeded a Conservative; a new party, the Progressives, are numerically an important factor; and there is a test of leadership of Messrs. King, Meighen and Crerar. It is a period demanding skilful leadership, decision in policy and firmness in administration. Has the two months' test justified the verdict of December? What progress has been made in implementing pledges? What decision and activity have been evidenced to give confidence and courage to a people wearied with five years' war and three years of the aftermath of uncertainty and depression that inevitably ensued? These are the tests by which the new administration must be judged.

The new administration started badly in the indecision displayed by Hon. Mr. King in Cabinet construction. He proposed coalition with the Progressives at the expense of his Montreal following and then wavered at the crucial time, surrendered to Sir Lomer Gouin and left Mr. Crerar and his agrarian advisers in the lurch. This brief discussion in his Cabinet; and has made permanent record and suspicion prevail where collective responsibility and co-operation is essential to parliamentary control, aggressive administration and effective solution of national problems. This has resulted in repudiation of ministerial policy, administrative stagnation and domestic broils, cabals and even revolts. The result has been that Mr. King has lost control of his party, his party control of parliament, and parliament the control of the electorate. Party pledges are unredempted, even repudiated, and there has been a surrender to patronage mongers and parasitic desire.

Mr. King was pledged to an additional gratuity to the soldiers. Mr. King has repudiated this pledge. Mr. King was pledged to the elimination of company directors from the Cabinet Council. Mr. King was pledged to this pledge. Mr. King was pledged to reduction in expenditure and taxation. Practically expenditure has been increased; there is no evidence of possibility of lessening the taxation burden. He repudiated the action of his Minister of Labour, Mr. Murdoch, and the party has rebelled against his Minister of Militia, Mr. Graham. No legislation of any importance has been forthcoming, no attempt has been made to reduce freight rates, but rather there has been a clear inclination to shelve this problem; no retraining bill has been prepared; and there has been no definite pronouncement of any issue. Strong leadership is essential at all times; doubly essential in periods of unrest; and in such a period as the present, when the combined trade depression, industrial uncertainty, and agricultural depression, we have a parliament that has proposed nothing, accomplished nothing, and projected nothing. Leadership in the government has disappeared; in fact, it has not existed in the new administration. Hon. Mr. Meighen has crossed the floor of parliament; has but twenty-five per cent. of parliamentary representation behind him, and yet retains for all practical purposes the parliamentary leadership. This is the most extraordinary feature of the present parliament. A new government flushed with victory is almost invariably aggressive and confident, while the Opposition defeated and demoralized is dejected. Here is the strange spectacle of a leader and party following the most severe defeat in Canadian history, so confident in policy, so actively led, that in influence, prestige and initiative it dominates where it represents but one quarter of the voting power. This is due in a great degree to Mr. Meighen's marvellous mentality, and his experience, and his unwavering adherence to party policy and principles both in and out of power. He leads parliament, and that leadership does not compromise his principles to obtain temporary allies or a passing victory. He sees the policy he gave effect to in office; the policy he advocates in the House, and his course has been one of co-operation with the government even to the sacrifice of his party's principles. His party is restless and factious under his leadership. They view with suspicion his support of the government, and this has been intensified by his intemperate opposition to the Wheat Board. He has failed to accomplish anything so tion in the adoption by his opponents of what he advocated and what they condemned.

There remains the Hon. T. A. Crerar and the Progressives. Mr. Crerar is a staunch Liberal partisan and his course has been one of co-operation with the government even to the sacrifice of his party's principles. His party is restless and factious under his leadership. They view with suspicion his support of the government, and this has been intensified by his intemperate opposition to the Wheat Board. He has failed to accomplish anything so far; and it is possible when he is faced with the decision to choose between politics and the grain business he will choose the latter. He would join openly with Mr. King, but fears that the grain disruption with his following, and the retaliation which the prairie farmer would inflict. There may be capably and initiative in the agrarian group, but they have not been displayed so far.

So far Canada's administrative experiment has not been a success. This is due to the failure of the group system or inefficient government leadership. We have instability and stagnation where we should have decision and activity. There is no collective cabinet responsibility; there is an uncertainty in tenure of office; there is evasion, delay, and repudiation; these are all here; and responsibility for these conditions must rest on the administration, and administration leadership, but primarily and specifically on leadership.

LIQUOR PRESCRIPTIONS

The Saskatchewan Liquor Commission, working under the Liquor and Temperance Act of 1920, has a splendid showing to its credit in the control of the medical use of alcoholic liquors, and the abatement of the prescription evil. This is all the more commendable because it has been secured with a minimum of friction and a high degree of co-operation of the part of druggists and physicians. The publicity given to this work through the publication of the records of each month has been most valuable, by stopping the tendency to vague rumor and exaggeration which are always characteristic when facts are not forthcoming.

The Commission was inaugurated on December 15th, 1920. During the preceding six weeks, 39,373 prescriptions were written; during the following six weeks, 12,866 prescriptions were written. From Dec. 15th, 1921, to Jan. 31st, 1922, 12,399 prescriptions were written. It will be seen that the number has been lowered in a year to less than one-third.

Before the 1920 Act went into effect, the quantity prescribable was unlimited. Since December 15th, 1920, the law fixed a definite limit. A careful study of the records of amounts prescribed shows that the quantity has been cut down to less than a quarter what it was a year ago.

The record of the total number of prescriptions issued by the slightly over six hundred doctors in the Province will be interesting:

January, 1921	11,588
February, 1921	6,902
March, 1921	10,579
April, 1921	11,827
May, 1921	10,552
June, 1921	9,026
July, 1921	8,293
August, 1921	9,029
September, 1921	9,507
October, 1921	11,072
November, 1921	9,501
December, 1921	10,146
January, 1922	7,126

The total amount of liquor prescribed monthly for the whole Province and used for compounding medicinal and sacramental uses, for manufacturers, and educational institutions, averages about one gallon of spirits, one quart of wine, and one gallon and a half of malt liquors for every one thousand of population. In other words, about eleven quarts of liquor for every one thousand people once a month for all purposes for which the sale of liquor or its importation is legitimate.

During the month of January, 1922, more than one hundred physicians wrote more than four hundred prescriptions, and four hundred and twenty-eight wrote less than twenty-five for the month. Regina Medical Fraternity has the best score. The sixty physicians of Regina average less than six prescriptions per month, while some months they have averaged less than five each per month. Twenty physicians of Regina, among whom are some of our most noted names with the largest practices, never issue a prescription of liquor for internal use. Apparently there is real headway being made along these lines.

Appropos of this question, the Journal of the American Medical Association made careful enquiry during 1921 as to the recognized therapeutic value of alcohol liquors. A majority of physicians in nineteen states regarded beer, wine, whiskey, brandy as unnecessary. Therapeutic agents in the practice of medicine. About four-fifths of the physicians declared there were no instances in their practices where suffering or death resulted from enforcement of Prohibition Laws.

the House of Commons, addressing the Worshipful Spicers' Federation at Birmingham yesterday, said he found no indication of a coming trade boom, but there was a movement in the right direction. The improvement in the British export trade was well-come, but the people's satisfaction thereof was not unduly exaggerated by the fact of recent considerable loans to the dominions and colonies and foreign countries, creating credits which were expended in the purchase of British goods, but against which Great Britain received no imports.
It was impossible to compensate for the decline of foreign trade by increase in the domestic trade, Mr.
McKenna said, nevertheless, there was no reason to despair about the ultimate restoration of the foreign market. The situation was not irre-mediable, provided the government had a judicious policy and all the people recognized the necessity for hard work and individual as well as national economy.

THINGS YOU WILL ALWAYS REGRET

Trying to have the last word. Getting the best of an argument which may cost you a friend. Sparing your time foolishly. Resenting fancied injuries. Doing the lower when the higher is possible. Putting the blame on the other fellow. Trying to get pleasure out of what which lessens your self-respect, makes you feel mean the next day. No recreation, no fun, no time to devote to what does not leave you a little more fit for life's duties. Whatever makes you feel dissatisfied with your life,
lessens your self-respect, is vicious,
no matter how exciting or exhilarating it might be at the moment.

HER LAST SMOKE

Inveterate addiction to pipe-smoking has proved fatal to Anna Kenedy, aged 77, who was found buried to death in bed at her home in Chesterford lane, near Sheffield, England. Her cherished pipe was gripped tight in her right hand, and a box of matches lay close by. It is supposed that she fell asleep while she was still alight, and that this set fire to the bed. The old woman with her "quinty" was a familiar fig-

"SEES" AND "HEARS" WITH FINGERS

Willette Huggins, aged seventeen, totally blind and deaf, astounded 500
physicians the other night in Chi-

Medical Society by "hearing" and "seeing" through her fingertips. This is what she has done: She can hear over the telephone by placing her fingers on the receiver. She can hear persons talk by placing her fingers on their cheeks. The "vibra-

her. She can read newspaper headlines by feeling the letters. But she cannot read the body of an article, as the letters are too small.
She can tell the denomination of pa-

WHAT CAUSES SO MUCH SICKNESS

Constipation Responsible for 90% of Disease

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Corrects It

It is generally recognized among the medical profession that Constipation or Insufficient Action of The Bowel, produces more disease than any other cause. Constipation is responsible for at least 90% of the disease in the world today—because Constipation is responsible for the Indigestion and Dyspepsia—the nervousness, Acidosis and Rheumatism—the Ezemas and other skin troubles—the Headaches and Backaches.

Why is this?
As you know, it is the duty of the bowels to carry off the waste matter from the system. If the bowels move are weak or the liver inactive, then this waste matter remains in the body and poisons the blood. As a result, right organs in the body is poisoned
by this waste.

"Fruit-a-tives" has been wonderfully successful in relieving Stomach Troubles, Nervous Troubles, Liver Troubles, Kidney Troubles, Skin Troubles and Blood Troubles, because "Fruit-a-tives" possibly and emphatically relieves Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Constipation, even though the trouble has been chronic for ten, fifteen, twenty years. Thousands of grateful users proclaim "Fruit-a-tives" the greatest remedy for Constipation that the world has ever known.

NO MORE PRIVATE BOOTHS IN CAFES AFTER THIS MONTH

New Restaurant Act Provides That
All Stalls Must Be Open to View

Private booths, or any section of a restaurant that cannot be viewed from the remainder of the premises will be prohibited by law on and after June 1. This legislation is provided by the new restaurant act, passed by the provincial government by the new Restaurant Act, passed at the last assembly, and it is defined as an act to license, regulate and control restaurants and other places where refreshments are sold. The Calgary police are preparing to see that the provisions of the act are strictly observed in that city.

The section which most affects restaurants in Red Deer and other centers in the province says that no part or parts of the premises of a restaurant in which food or drink is served to customers for consumption thereon shall be screened or partitioned off in any manner from the other part or parts of the said premises so as to render the interior thereof incompletely free from observation from the remainder of the premises.

Places having stalls laid out which are not completely screened off will not be affected by this regulation, but the act will compel restaurants to remove screens or curtains from their private booths so that the interior of the place can be observed at all times.

TREE PLANTING IN CANADA

This is the season of the year when tree planting is being actively carried on throughout Canada. In Ontario and Quebec, farmers are improving their woodlots by planting seedling trees sent out from the provincial forest nursery at St. Williams and Berthelville, respectively; and in both provinces there is considerable activity in regard to municipal forests, particularly in Ontario, where the first planting work is being done
by some of the newly established county forests. In the Prairie Provinces, about five million seedlings and cuttings, all told, will be sent out from the Indian Head and Saskatoon forest nursery stations of the Dominion Forestry Branch. These are all for planting shelter-belts on farms. Besides this, these nursery stations are sending out a considerable quantity of planting material and tree seeds for planting and sowing on different Dominion forest reserves. This is only a beginning in reforestation, but it indicates that the title is at last turning in that direction.

OBITUARY

(Delburne Progress)

After a long and lingering illness,
Mrs. J. McHardy passed away quietly on the morning of May 16th. She is survived by her husband, Mr. J. Mc-Hardy, who has been in charge of the Alberta Lumber Co's. yards here for some years past. Born in Montrose, Scotland, on June 10th, 1867, she was the second daughter of James Middleton and Jane Farrier, his wife.
She was married to John McHardy at Montreal on the 25th of December, 1890, coming to Alberta with him on 9th of May, 1903.

Mrs. McHardy has been very active in social work connected with the Methodist church, and was an indefatigable worker on all church work. She is especially well known to the old time residents of the district, as she, with Mr. McHardy, was one of the first, if not the first, farming settlers in the district. She leaves many friends to mourn her loss, and Mr. McHardy has the sympathy of the community.

A very impressive service was given at the Methodist church, jointly by the Rev. W. T. Whalen and the Rev. O. B. Brooks, the building being crowded to overflowing with members of the church and friends.
The pallbearers were Messrs. M. J. Manning, W. G. Clendenning, N. H. Lloyd,
H. Harder, H. Jettin, and C. W. Collett.

SAFE AND SANE IMMIGRATION IN CANADA IS URGED

Importance of Such a Policy Emphasized by Hon. Charles Stewart

Montreal, May 12.—The importance of immigration, but immigration of a sane and sensible sort, was the argument of Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, at the annual dinner of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association held here last night, the function closing the two-day gathering of the sixth annual meeting of the association.
The minister in reply to questions,
stated that an order-in-council had been recently drafted which, when passed by parliament, would allow for the giving of visas in the various districts of Great Britain by representatives of the Dominion immigration department. These would obviate any possibility of a settler being sent back to the old country on the score of inability to pass immigration tests.

In the morning, the executive report of the association was adopted.
It covered the western situation during 1921 and also that of Ontario.
The report of the municipal finance committee stated that "only in Alberta and Saskatchewan were there municipalities where trouble existed of so serious a nature as to call for the attention of your committee." In Alberta, principal amounting to $2-881,847 and arrears amounting to $159,856 were involved. Similar trouble in Saskatchewan amounted to $2,514,599 principal and $371,622
arrears.

TAKE any baseball player that you know of—any of the famous league pitchers for example. How many years back does he date in the big league? How many more years has he coming? Whether in sport or business the years when life and strength are at the top-notch are few.

Mutual Endowment Insurance gives a young man "a big lead" in the game of life. Mutual Endowment insurance is the best, especially for those desiring to accumulate capital.

It is a compulsory savings system.
It protects one's family for a specified term.
It is also a very good investment.

But it is particularly a good form of insurance for young men. The average young man has life, energy and money enough to carry such a policy. Twenty years later, the average man won't have life, energy or money to spare.

Talk to our agent about the profit participating endowment policies in the Mutual Life.
Under the participating plan you pay a little more in premiums at the start but less in the end, for the profits reduce the cost.

Remember—there are no stockholders in the Mutual Life. The entire profits are allocated every year among the profit-participating policyholders—either in cash or reduced premiums or increased insurance, just as they prefer.

SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND

Every single dollar given to the Save the Children Fund saves the life of one child. Positively one more child would have died if you had not given that dollar. The Presbyterian church had Mr. Graham, of the firm of Payne & Graham, investigate the reliability of this fund, and found everything correct. The Premier of the Dominion, the ex-Premier and thousands of the leading citizens of Canada stand behind the fund.

How can mothers and fathers of dear children refuse to at least save the life of one poor starving little one?

Every dollar is accounted for, and every dollar is spent for Canadian supplies. The News has not been asked to do this work. We receive no monetary reward. We ask for no thanks. We have been impressed by the response from little children. The donation from little Tommy Corbett in this issue is worthy of mention. A splendid tribute to self-denial. The following donations have been received since our last report:

CONDOR NEWS

Seeding is well advanced, several farmers having finished. The wheat is up and looks very promising.

Mr. W. J. Clement sold his farm east of the store last week to Mr. Crawford, recently out from Scotland.

Messrs. A. and J. Roughton, of Calgary, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Frost over the week end. Naturally they visited Mr. H. Meeres, Jimmy Roughton being an old Red Deer freeman and Tony Roughton was a lieutenant in the 157th batt.

Ray Rasmussen, who has been away from home lately, has been home lately, and sprung a surprise on his neighbors by bringing home a very pretty week-old bride. Congratulations, Ray. You may be sure the Condorites very heartily welcome Mrs. Rasmussen in their midst. The bride was a Miss Berenson, of Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barton's baby has been dangerously ill, but we are glad to learn that she is improving.
